The Misuse Of Gasoline

The number of tragedies reported in Western newspapers this fall as resulting from the careless use of gasoline and coal oil is simply appalling. Loss of life, terrible injuries to others, and destruction of valuable property is not counted which has been taken, and hardly a week passes that the total does not mount still higher.

The Fire Commissioner for Saskatchewan in a recent radio address stated that, on the average, twenty-five lives are lost annually from this cause alone. It is probable that the loss is just as great in the other western provinces.

In one small district in Saskatchewan three such disasters occurred within a few days of each other, resulting in four persons receiving severe burns, the complete destruction of one home, and damage to another. In another district two boys were burned, and in a third district a young lad was so severely burned that he died. All these accidents occurred at practically the same time.

Although gasoline may be sold in red tin or containers plainly marked as to their contents, the fact is that the gasoline is all too frequently emptied into other receptacles which are not marked, nor properly sealed. It is frequently mistaken for coal oil, and even for water.

Furthermore, many people forget, and an even larger number of children do not know, that the greatest danger from these liquids arise from their vapors. It is the vapor from gasoline mixing with the air which becomes a highly explosive article, and the lighting of a match, or an electric spark, means a fearful explosion. Even a can which has contained gasoline, but is emptied, may still retain a quantity of this vapor, and bringing such a vessel near a lighted lamp, a stove, or a lighted match may mean an explosion.

Gasoline and coal oil should not be used to light fires. To use it to be in a fire is to invite disaster. Gasoline is now largely used in cleaning clothes, but everybody so using it should exercise the greatest care that there is no flame or fire of any kind near at hand. In fact, gasoline for cleaning purposes should only be used outdoors and away from all fire. If the weather is such that outdoor work is impossible then do the work in a room in which there is no fire and which is lighted by natural daylight or an incandescent electric light. Never have a lighted lamp near. Clothes cleaned in any way with gasoline should be hung outdoors in the open air and be left there until the last vestige of the gasoline fumes has disappeared.

When one stops to realize that it is the vapor from gasoline mixed with air and exploded by a tiny electric spark in our motor car engines that drives these cars along our streets and highways at high rates of speed they will gain some idea of the terrible power of this vapor and realize how great care should be taken in its use.

Possibilities Of The North

Says Hudson Bay Railway Will Open Up A Great Area

"In five to ten years the Hudson's Bay Railway will be amply justified in new towns established, power plants erected, the country utilized and the possibilities of Northern Canada developed," said James A. Green, retired iron miner of Chatham, who was a visitor to Winnipeg recently.

It was the beginning of a new era, said the American visitor, which would revolutionize the whole life of the Dominion. The railway would open up a great area, of tremendous waterpower and enormous lakes with almost unlimited supply of fish of the finest quality.

It was as good a grass country as Texas, Mr. Green said, and there were thousands of square miles fit for cattle. He pointed to the future possibility of domesticating the caribou, as had already been done in Alaska, and so provide a meat supply "world without end."

Injured Woman Travels By Plane

Canada's Furniture Industry

B.C. Is Third and Manitoba Fourth in Number of Factories
The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in their recent report on the furniture industry in Canada for 1924 and 1925 supply the following figures which cover the greater part of the furniture made in Canada. There are some woodworking factories, however, that do cabinet work as a sideline which are included under other classes of manufacture. Out of a total of 232 establishments, 306 were situated in Ontario, 65 in Quebec, 35 in British Columbia, 17 in Manitoba and the remainder scattered among the other five provinces.

Keeps Tab On Geese

Jack Miner Receives Many Tags From Birds Up North
Regularly each year Jack Miner places metal tags in the legs of geese which sojourn in the Miner Bird Sanctuary on their migrations north and south. It is interesting to note how regular these birds are in their habit of returning year after year to the same place to rest. Jack Miner recently received 23 tags from George Cotter, of Port George, Que., on James Bay. These tags were collected by Eskimos and were in number and date as follows: 5, 1927; 2, 1927; 1, 1924; 1, 1925; 15, 1926; and 5, 1927 (spring).

TRIALS OF INDIGESTION

Errors About This Trouble Into Which People Fall

Many people so misinterpret the digestive system as to treat it like a machine; neglecting it until it works sluggishly, then irritating it into work again by the use of purgatives. The stomach needs help at all times, but a study of the process of digestion will show that purgatives, as commonly taken, are seldom necessary and often harmful.

To safeguard your digestion the diet must be controlled. Over-eating is always harmful, but one must assimilate enough food to supply the needs of the blood. Remember, the blood has to carry nourishment to all parts of the body and fuel for its energy. Hence when the blood becomes weak and fails to do its work, indigestion follows. The remedy for indigestion is to build up the blood. If you suffer from any form of indigestion, change your diet carefully and take wholesome nourishment. Above all, start building up your blood by taking the course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Then under the influence of the new blood supply, your digestive system will respond naturally, your appetite improve and your food will do you good. So begin to improve your digestion by starting to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now.

You can get these pills from your druggist or by mail at 60 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why Not Steel Houses

Offer Same Advantage Of Economy As Ocean Liners

If a Pullman car or an ocean liner can be constructed of steel, why not a house?

Steel cars and ships are waterproof, fireproof and comparatively free from depreciation. Costing more at the outset, they represent a saving in the end. Steel houses offer the same advantage of economy and safety.

The American Institute of Steel Construction which represents ninety per cent of the steel manufacturers in this country, has been hoping that some one would invent a steel house that was commercially practical.

Timing Speed Of Animals

Sportsmen along the Pacific coast have been using their stop watches on fish and wild beasts. A grizzly bear, pursued through a narrow canyon by an automobile, ran 45 miles an hour. The savage barouca can swim as fast as 70 miles an hour. The seal, usually considered very speedy in the water, required four minutes to swim a mile.

Minerals In Dead Sea

British Syndicate Secures Concession To Work Ancient Body Of Water For Mineral Contents

A concession for reclaiming the vast mineral resources of the Dead Sea, The London Sunday Times learns, has been awarded a British syndicate, and the American and continental syndicates have been definitely rejected.

The syndicate which has secured the concession will be a subsidiary company of the Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., a great chemical combine with a capital of $155,000,000, including the Brunner and Mond interests.

Expert examination, according to The Times, has shown that the Dead Sea is a practically inexhaustible source of salt and that its exploitation will probably be the making of Palestine.

Might Solve Problem

Empire Matrimonial Agency Proposed in Old Country

The London Daily Chronicle, editorially, under the caption, "Matrimonial Agencies," says "as everyone knows, there are more women than men in this country, and in some of the Dominions there are more men than women. Here is a surplus of women, many of whom, it is whispered, want husbands, whilst men in the Dominions are eating their hearts out for lack of wives."

Sir George MacMunn, formerly Quartermaster-General in India, suggests a remedy. Why not an Empire matrimonial agency, conducted strictly on official lines, by the Council of Empire Settlement, with photographs and testimonials, previous experience not required. It seems an almost feasible plan.

Resumes Career As Sailor

Prince George Takes Post On British Flagship Nelson

Our sea dogs of the British Navy stroked their whiskers in glee when Prince George resumed his active career as a sailor, for there has been reports that he might forsake the navy for the army.

The Prince, who ranks as a lieutenant, is now attached as French interpreter to the staff of Sir Hubert Brand, commander in chief of the Atlantic—job which will pay him one shilling and six pence, or about 26 cents a day, in addition to his regular pay as an officer.

Prince George will be stationed aboard H.M.S. Nelson, Britain's newest flagship which became the fleet flagship on the anniversary of Nelson's historic victory over the Franco-Spanish fleet off Cape Trafalgar 122 years ago.

Just before starting for Portsmouth, the Prince witnessed a spectacular film fire which recalled his own experience in China on New Year's Eve, 1926, when he was attached to H.M.S. Hawkins, and with other members of the crew fought a Hong Kong fire, aiding guns to escape.

Has Had Long Rest
Built by James Watt, in 1797, the "Sun and Planet" engine is in working order again after forty-two years' rest. The engine is now in the science museum at South Kensington, and was put in motion recently for the first time since 1855, when it was dismantled and moved to the museum.

An Oil For All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a true and faithful friend. It should have a place in all home medicine boxes and be amongst those taken on a journey.

The first school in the Netherlands for civil aviation is being financed through the efforts of the Rotterdam Aero Club which has been assured that no competing school will be permitted.

An Oil That Is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil was put up on the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

Call To Young Manhood To Go North, Where Canada's Greatest Wealth Is To Be Found

Premier Gardiner of Saskatchewan, speaking from the summit of Grouse Mountain, a few weeks ago, gave Canadians a message that was well worth pondering over. He gave men cause to think of the future of the Dominion, and he gave them inspiration from contemplation of the past.

The "little giant of Saskatchewan," as he has been described, himself a poor immigrant to the prairies from old Ontario, by his dogged perseverance and determination worked himself up from the labor of a farm hand to the office of prime minister. Out of his knowledge of Canada and from his wealth of personal experience he sent a call ringing out to the young manhood of the nation, to "cut away from the ribbon that hugs the border, and go north, where Canada's richest wealth of natural resources is to be found."

Just as Horace Greeley advised the young men of the eastern United States to "go west" and they went and built up the republic—no Premier Gardiner calls for young Canada to adventure forth and build up the Dominion in the Northland where vacant spaces place for the plough, and hidden metals lie waiting for the fortunate prospector; where water powers are wasting energies that could be harnessed for the development of the land and the prosperity of the Dominion.

And Premier Gardiner is painting his picture of the future on his palette the colors of the past. He told how the pioneers of other days had ventured forth from the eastern settlements to construct new homes and rear wholesome communities that to-day form Canada's Golden West.

His call was to men of courage, of vision, and of enterprise, and to such, he said, there must come success.

The nineteenth century, he said, had belonged to the United States; the twentieth to Canada. He told how in 1909 the population of Canada had equaled that of the United States just one century before; in 1910 the Dominion had a population almost identical with that of the republic in 1810, and in 1920—even after forty years of warfare—Canada had within a few thousands of the number of people that the United States had in 1820. So, he continued, a comparison of conditions with the republic would show that the Dominion was advancing just exactly one century behind the United States, and he felt confident that by 1950 Canada would have twenty-three million people.

If Premier Gardiner is a true prophet, the Dominion is indeed the land of destiny and its progress in the next twenty-five years will be phenomenal.—Vancouver Province.

Crab Apples

May Be Grown Successfully In Western Provinces

Most varieties of crab apples are very hardy and may be successfully grown even where the winters are quite severe. This fruit is generally very popular for preserving and jelly-making purposes and finds a ready market in the cities. There are many varieties of crabs, and some outstanding ones are described in an Experimental Farm bulletin on the "Cultivation of the Apple in Canada." A very profitable variety to grow is the Hyslop which is very hardy and productive and an excellent keeper and jelly maker. Another fine crab apple is the Martha, which is large, highly colored and very hardy. One of the best known of these apples is the Transcendent, a handsome fruit of rich yellow color and very productive.

Mountain Sheep For British Columbia Fifty Rocky Mountain sheep have been supplied to the British Columbia Game Conservation Board by the Canadian National Parks Branch of the Department of the Interior. These sheep were captured near Banff in Rocky Mountain National Park and they will be used to stock former ranges of the species near Spence's Bridge, B.C.

About 300,000, which is one-fourth of the miners of Britain, are still unemployed.

Gasoline Flavor In Dairy Butter

Exhaust From Gas Engine Should Be Kept Away From Separator

One of the main defects of butter made on the farm as compared with creamery butter is bad flavor. The flavor of butter exposed for sale is of the highest importance and no matter how good the butter may be in other respects, if the flavor is wrong, it is bound to be classified as an inferior article. On many farms the cream separator is operated by a gasoline engine with the frequent result that the butter acquires a gasoline (carbon monoxide) flavor, which detracts greatly from its quality. Some suggestions to assist in the prevention of this absorption of gasoline flavor are given in a bulletin on "Butter Making on the Farm," distributed by the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. There should be a tight wooden partition between the separator and the engine. The possibility of the entrance of fumes from the engine exhaust into the separator room may be avoided by having a tight connection between the engine and exhaust pipe and by directing the pipe through the roof instead of through the wall of the building. When it is possible the equipment should be so arranged that the separator is between the engine and the direction of the prevalent wind. The operator should be very careful when handling the engine to avoid carrying gasoline oil on his hands and clothing. Gasoline should never be placed in a cream can, milk pail or any dairy utensil.

Pasteurizing Cream On the Farm

Simple Methods Which May Be Used For Home Pasteurizing

Pasteurizing cream is not so easily done on the farm as in creameries where special equipment is provided, but in cases where it is difficult to get the cream to churn, or where there are bad flavors on the cream, when butter is to be stored, or when a mild flavored butter is desired, it will pay to pasteurize. Simple methods of home pasteurizing are described in a bulletin on "Buttermaking on the Farm," distributed by the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. When steam is available the heating can be done by putting the cream in a tub or box of water and turning the steam into the water. These shot gun cans are well soldered plain bottomed tin containers about 8 inches in diameter and 20 inches deep. When the desired temperature is reached the water may be drawn off and cold water or water and ice put in the box to cool the cream. Where no steam is available, an ordinary water boiler half filled with water may be set on the stove and shot gun cans put in it. The cream must be stirred continually while being heated, and cooling will be done more quickly and effectively when the cream is stirred. When the only difficulty is getting the cream to churn, 145 degrees will be enough, but for the other objects mentioned the cream should be heated to 165 to 180 degrees. Heating to these high temperatures will give the butter a cooked flavor, but it will soon pass away leaving a mild sweet flavor. Pasteurizing should not be done until all the cream for a churning is on hand, and the cream should remain at a churning temperature at least three hours before churning. It usually requires a slightly lower churning temperature than un-pasteurized cream.

Captures Good Luck Omens

What is probably an unique experience for seamen was recounted recently by Captain A. H. Sargeant, R.D., R.N.R. former commander of the Canadian Pacific steamer Brecon, who visited Canada a short time ago for the first time since his retirement a year ago.

Last year on the final journey of the Brecon with Captain Sargeant in command, a huge white Arctic Owl dropped on board ship from a mid-Atlantic sky. Just 44 years before when Captain Sargeant was making

Fight in London Zoo

Canadian Bison Kills American rival In Hard Battle

A furious fight between a Canadian and an American bison took place at the Zoo, the American animal being gored to death.

"Punch," who occupied an enclosure with three cow bison, was the victor and "Silly Bill," who shared a paddock with "Lady," was the victim.

As the conflict took place at night, when no one was present, the scene between the battling bison can only be conjectured, but with such ponderous and powerful animals, it must have been awe-inspiring. Both weighed a ton and, though Punch was the smaller of the two, he was younger and sturdier than Bill and his massive, shaggy head was larger, as is characteristic of the Canadian race.

In the morning the heavily-barred gate between the paddocks was found to have been battered down, whilst in a far off corner lay the body of "Silly Bill" with a large hole in the side and almost all his ribs broken. "Punch," surrounded by the four admiring cows, stood calmly on the brow of the slope, like an immense statue of the Monarch of the Prairie. He had escaped without a scratch.

Marks and stains upon a stone wall suggest that "Punch" had hurled his burly antagonist against it.

Form New Company

A company is being formed in Saskatchewan to manufacture Columbus egg preserver, a preparation made in Denmark. A group of local men have purchased the rights for Canada and the United States.

If a girl is unable to secure a man's wages as an office she might succeed in getting them by marrying him.

"In the season just concluding we have settled in Northern Saskatchewan, nearly 400 families, representing an acreage of 50,000 and an investment of approximately $1,000,000. In addition to this we have brought out from Europe about 200 other families, while, although at present unable to take up land, are employed on farms with the intention of settling permanently in a year or so, when their means will allow."

This statement was made by J. S. McGowan, general western manager of the department of colonization and agriculture, C.N.R., in a recent interview.

"Owing to the publicity given to Canada in Germany, the Scandinavian countries and Holland this year, we expect a much greater movement from those countries next year than we had this," Mr. McGowan said.

"We expect an increase in British immigration as well. Owing to the restrictions placed on Scandinavian immigration to the United States it is expected that that flow of immigration will be diverted to Canada in the future."

"It is difficult to get any large number of British families with capital and experience to settle on farms of their own upon arrival. Our problem is to get them farm employment for a year or two until they are in a position to settle."

"We cannot get sufficient labor from the British Isles and Scandinavian countries to satisfy the demands," Mr. McGowan continued.

"We are making every effort to increase British immigration and bring in the maximum of British, but the non-preferred are brought in to fill out the necessary demand. We are unable to forecast just at present how many Central Europeans, or the non-preferred settlers will have to be brought in next year."

Canada is out of step with the world in general in this colonization," said Mr. McGowan. "When the United States was settling its middle west, just as we are settling the prairies here now, they had the farming people of Britain, the Scandinavian countries, Holland, Germany and so on to draw from. In other words, they settled with the preferred stock. But today, these European countries have changed, they have become concentrated industrial countries, they are industrialized. We no longer have the numbers of farmers to draw upon to settle our country, we can just get so many. Conditions are not what they were in this respect 30 or 40 years ago, or even 10 years ago."

Thin Out Buffalo Herds

One Thousand Wainwright Buffalo To Be Slaughtered This Year

To thin out the herd at Wainwright Park, 1,000 buffalo will be slaughtered this fall and winter. The meat is sold as a commercial product and the hides find a ready market. The P. Burns Company, Calgary, has the contract for the killing. The Wainwright herd increases too rapidly in spite of the transfer to the far north of 5,000 of the animals.

The first municipal public conveyance was used in Nantes, France, in 1825. A few years later the omnibus was introduced in London.

Famous Indian Treaty Opened New Empire for Settlement

1.—Chief Duck Head, Chief of the Blackfoot, and a descendant of Chief Crow Foot. 2.—Monument erected to memory of Chief Crow Foot. 3.—Site of old Chief Crow Foot's lodge. 4.—Decorating the grave of Chief Crow Foot.

Fifty years ago, or in the late summer of 1877, only a few days before the first locomotive engine entered Western Canada, the most important treaty between the Canadian Government and the Indians of the plains was signed.

It was treaty No. 7, the one that brought peace to the great plains and threw open a new empire for settlement. The historic document was signed on the banks of the Bow River just east of Calgary and near the Canadian Pacific Railway station of Cluny. It is, possibly, a greater tribute to the red men than to his white brothers that the terms of the treaty has been lived up to in every detail.

On September 22, 1927, the fiftieth anniversary of the memorable occasion, hundreds of people from all walks of life, representatives of various tribes of Indians and officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police gathered at the historic spot for an impressive memorial service where a cairn and tablet had been erected. Mrs. James F. Macleod, widow of the late Colonel Macleod, commissioner of the old Royal North West Mounted Police, unveiled the tablet. It was Colonel Macleod who was successful in securing the signing of the treaty 50 years ago. The cairn containing the tablet is in close proximity to the grave of Chief Crowfoot, who in signing the treaty thus opened the great plains for settlement, peaceful settlement, by the whites. Mrs. Macleod and her son Norman placed wreaths on the nearby grave. Stony Creek, Blackfoot, Peigans and Sarcees were represented by chiefs at the ceremony. Hon. R. B. Bennett, K.C., M.P., spoke at the gathering, tracing the incidents that led up to the signing of the treaty. He also quoted from the speech delivered at the time by Chief Crowfoot as follows:

"While I speak, be kind and patient. I have to speak for my people who are numerous, and who rely on me to follow that course which in the future will tend to their good. The plains are wide. We are children of the plains; it is our home and the buffalo has been our food always. I hope you look upon the Blackfeet, Blood and Sarcees as your children now and that you will be indulgent and charitable to them.

"They all expect me to speak now for them and I trust the Great Spirit will put into their breasts to be a good people—into the minds of the men, women and children and their future generations.

"The advice given me and my people has been very good. If the police had not come into the country, where would we all be now? Bad men and whiskey were killing us so fast 'at first, indeed, of us would have been left today. The police have protected us as the fathers of the third protect it from the frosts of winter. I wish them all good, and trust that all our hearts will increase in goodness from this time forward. All settled. I will sign the treaty."

Here and There

In accordance with its new policy the Department of Health at Ottawa has appointed twenty physicians as inspectors of immigrants in European cities. They are to report for duty at once.

Manager D. McNair, of the Associated Growers, states that at the end of last week 100 cars of "Bliva" (Macintosh Red apples) left the Okanagan Valley for New York and that 50 cars of Jonathans will move out to Sweden, South Africa, Great Britain and New Zealand.

The Canadian Pacific Railway is again offering a prize of $100 to the Canadian showing the best spring wheat at the International Hay and Grain Show in Chicago. It was announced at the offices of the agricultural department of the company. The show will be held in November.

The grand total of Canadian trade for the twelve months ended August was $2,231,000,000, as compared with $2,314,000,000 for the year before. Import figures are up and exports down; the former being $1,066,000,000, as compared with $967,000,000 the year before and exports $1,164,000,000, as against $1,337,000,000.

A boom in muskrat farming is on the horizon in Western Canada. Following the acceptance by the Provincial Government of the Prairie Provinces of the Dominion Government's offer to turn over swamp lands to them for leases to residents for purposes of muskrat farming there has been a deluge of applications. Alberta has had 200 of them and Saskatchewan over 500.

British Columbia is capable of producing all the bulbs, rose bushes, fruit trees, ornamental trees and seeds that the Canadian people can use. It is claimed by authorities here. Millions of dollars each year go out of Canada for nursery stock that could be raised in British Columbia and delivered to the buyers several weeks earlier than it could be imported from overseas.

Boys and girls resident in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are now engaged in a series of hog-judging contests in which the Canadian Pacific Railway is offering a trophy to the winning teams of each province, in addition to which the six winners will be taken to Toronto to the Royal Winter Fair (Nov 16th to 24th), as guests of the railway.

"More settlers are coming from the United States to make homes in Canada than in any year since 1920," said J. R. Ryan recently in Winnipeg, travelling colonization agent from the St. Paul office of the Canadian Pacific Railway. "Personally," he said, "I have brought 70 families here, and have every reason to believe that the total will be well over 100 before the end of the year. All the settlers have money—some very well supplied."

Prot. Robert Wallace, commissioner of Manitoba mines, told the Caledonian Society at its weekly luncheon in Winnipeg recently, that mining developments such as had never been equalled in the history of Manitoba were likely to feature the next six months. Mining, he said, had to be looked upon as a business proposition. It so happened in this country that the mines were found in places to which access was not easy and no railroad could be expected to lay tracks into the north country until it knew prospects there.

BY NELLIE L. McCLUNG

It was in February that Mrs. St. John decided to take immediate action. Helmi would be free in March. It would be intolerable to have the girl under her feet all the time, with the uncomfortable feeling that she might upset everything. Helmi had a terrible temper. Mrs. Wymuth's stories of Helmi's outbreaks had been elaborately embroidered; indeed, the stories of Helmi in the Wymuth edition were positively exciting. And, true to type, Mrs. St. John began to find reasons for her desire to get rid of Helmi that had in them no selfish taint. It was better for the girl to go to a fresh place, new scenes, new resolves—the land of beginning again.

By the time she had resolved the idea in her mind a week, Mrs. St. John felt it was truly big Slater impulse which prompted her to help Helmi to escape; the only disconcerting feature of it being that she could not tell anyone—which cheated her of the praise which was her due. But a calm sense of virtuous and heroic resolve permeated the region of her heart. She would do the noble thing, and she only hoped Helmi would be grateful. She would do it handsomely, too, and would give the girl an outfit of clothes that would surprise her. That tin suit which never fitted her properly—damn these home dressmakers! Her plaid motor coat—leather ones were newer anyway, and she really should have one to match the new car—and then a plain black travelling dress, severe as a nun's, black, straight and plain with stiff collar and cuffs.

"She thought of everything, and prepared a perfect flight for Helmi. She took her for a drive and explained it all, overcoming Helmi's objections by telling her that she was to be kept another year. The plan was this: She would bring the 'Merit Class' to see a picture at the 'Grand.' She had done this, so it would excite no suspicion. When they were all seated and the picture was absorbing everyone, she would whisper to the girl next to her that she had suddenly remembered.

RESTORED TO GOOD HEALTH

Mother of Eleven Children
Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Her Interesting Experience

Buckingham, Quebec.—"I am the mother of eleven children, and my baby is five months old. I am only 38 years old and I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and my nerves. I know of it from my sister, Mrs. Edward Bellefleur of Kamourville. For five years I was in misery and was always ready to cry. Now I am so happy to have good health. My daughter, who is 18 years old, has also taken it and will be happy to recommend it to all young girls."—Dana W. Parent, Box 414, Buckingham, Quebec.

Why suffer for years with backache, nervousness and other ailments common to women from early life to middle age, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will give you relief?

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 250,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use.

W. N. U. 1705

bered that she must meet a friend at the afternoon train. Helmi would come with her. Her story after that would be that she left Helmi sitting in the car while she went to greet her friend who was passing through. When she came back Helmi was gone. She thought, of course, Helmi had grown tired of waiting and had gone back to the theatre, and when she went back in the darkness she did not notice her absence, believing she had found a seat in some other part of the building, she having arranged with the doorman for their return when they went out.

The play was over and they were getting into the car when they missed Helmi. Mrs. St. John ran into the audience and phoned to the Home. Was Helmi there? No, she wasn't. Then she told her story, rather breathless and incoherent in her excitement. Mrs. Wymuth at once suspected flight, and notified the police. Helmi could not be out of the city, for she had no money. Mrs. Wymuth expressed the belief that she had returned to her haunts but a diligent search of the Chinese section of the city failed to find her.

It was two hours later that the conductor on Number Four walked through the train with a telegram in his hand:

"Finnish girl has escaped from Friendly Home, wearing gray coat green taut, plaid dress, laced boots. Send her back on Number Seven."

Signed, "F. Brooks,
Chief of Police."

Conductor Bryce walked slowly through the train, furtively appraising his passengers. A woman with two children, a deaconess, an old lady reading "The Christian Guardian," two young girls whom he knew, Mrs. Bryce shook his head. Then he went through the Pullmans and spoke to the porters, giving them the wire to read. They also were puzzled.

"Only one flapper got on, Sir, at Winnipeg, all the rest were older women—you know, stoutish,—with suits and veils and black bags. The flapper is some swell—shiny black valise, heavy like stone—she's no Finn girl running away! She's in the stateroom, Sir No. 2."

Nevertheless the conductor hurried to the stateroom and knocked. The door was opened by a rather languid looking young girl, in a plain black silk dress, with white collar and cuffs. To her hand she held a blue and gold bag. She raised her eyebrows in polite and rather haughty interrogation.

"Oh, I beg your pardon, I just wanted to see if the drawing room was occupied," said the companion. "Will you show me your railway ticket, please?"

The porter will get the other one. From a shiny new patent-leather purse which lay carelessly on the seat she drew a long ticket, which she handed to him without haste.

"You will go right through to Nanterman," he said, handing it back to her. The girl bowed her head and resumed her reading.

The conductor went back to the porter. "Why didn't you tell me you blockhead?" he said. "That girl is a swell. Can't you tell a thoroughbred when you see one? She had already shown her ticket to the other conductor."

"I feel foolish."
"Didn't I say she was a swell—didn't I? I said she was a Finn girl clear in—out—didn't I say that—I'll bet I did, and I'll bet you heard me, too. I'll bet I did say it. Didn't I say she had a big valise and heavy—I'll bet I did."

"Shut up," was the conductor's reply. The lady in "A" was no longer languid. She was regarding her new wardrobe with great interest and satisfaction. On a holder hung a handsome tan suit with silk embroidery, on another a motor coat. Numerous blouses and other articles lay on the seat beside her. In her black purse were four ten-dollar bills, and in her heart was a great joy. A song came to her lips:

"Keep on sewing when you've missed the crops,
Keep on dancing when the middle stops,
Keep on faithful till the curtain drops,
And you'll get there in the morning!"

And so journeyed Helmi once more into the unknown—young, strong and unafraid!

CHAPTER XI.

The hurried change of clothing in the motor-car, the jumble of directions, and the excitement of her departure left Helmi breathless, but the quiet reflection and security of the drawing-room soon restored her. She was here, the train was moving, her removed as clothes could be from what she had been wearing in style, color and texture. Her plaid dress, tan-shanter, thick gray coat and coarse shoes were all safely in a valise in the back of Mrs. St. John's car, and would within the next twenty minutes be smouldering in her furnace.

Helmi was dressed in a black silk, severely plain dress with a real lace collar partly hidden in place with an oxidized silver bar, a close hat of brilliant sweet-pea shades, under which her golden hair showed becomingly. Her coat was of dark, blue cloth of rayon cut with leather trimmings, her shoes the polished style so popular that summer. Mrs. St. John had eased her conscience by supplying Helmi with delightful accessories of travel, a handsome black suit-case fitted with ivory toilet articles, two of the latest magazines, a new novel, a box of chocolates, even a bunch of violets and a half-embroidered doily.

A wiser woman would not have supplied such expensive things for a girl who had to seek some employment in some other woman's kitchen, but Mrs. St. John had simply provided Helmi with the sort of things she would have liked herself had she been in Helmi's place. Besides, she had felt rather repentant for the staid little Christmas present, the white and silver shoes worn back which she had given to Helmi, and it was her desire to make amends now by showing Helmi how lavish she could be.

Leads in Beam Wireless

System Has Been Brought to Perfection in Britain

Britain's perfection of the beam wireless system is one of the outstanding points that she leads the world in radio and telegraphic communication," declared John McMillan, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Telegraphs, Montreal, who was in Vancouver on a tour of the Western lines.

"That marvelous station at Rugby has been working to Montreal perfectly for almost a year as well as working to South Africa, Australia, and India," he continued. "The importance of this station is shown by the fact that it can communicate with any part of the empire or any separate Dominion at the same time."

Forced To Abandon Help For Russians

Soviets Withdraw Concessions and Famous Explorer Loses Heavily

Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, famous explorer and humanitarian, has been warned from his early sympathy with the Soviets by the treatment which he recently received at their hands. Dr. Nansen who was appointed High Commissioner for the League of Nations, devoted his Nobel Prize award of 120,000 Swedish crowns, with $100,000 he had collected, to efforts to improve the condition of the Russian peasants.

With the object of teaching them modern farming methods, he obtained from the Soviet governments in the Dnieper and Saratof regions concessions of land, upon which he founded model farms, with the latest equipment in machinery and tools. The Nansen station soon began to pay their way, but the peasantry instead of regarding them as useful object lessons, saw in them a scheme to deprive them of their own lands.

When Dr. Nansen began to exploit a sandpit on his property on the Dnieper the local authorities inflicted such a heavy fine for not asking previous permission to work the pit that he was obliged to cease work on his farms temporarily to come to some arrangement. The Soviet authorities took the suspension as an excuse for withdrawing the concessions, and Dr. Nansen lost not only his money but several years of hard work, as well.

Is Fastest Woman Runner

Japanese Earns Title Of "Swiftest Girl Alive"

The fastest girl in the world hails from Japan. Miss Fumiko Terai exchanged her kimono for running shorts, and earned her right to the title of "swiftest girl alive" when she won the 100 metre sprint in the All-Japanese Sports Carnival held recently near Tokyo.

Her time is 10.45 seconds. Charlie Paddock's time for that distance is only two-fifths of a second faster, and Paddock is called "the fastest human."

Fumiko has beaten all men runners of her own country and all the best women runners in the world.

Man Making Strange Tour

Walking On His Hands From Dublin To Belfast

Claiming to be a Canadian and an ex-soldier, a man recently passed through Dundalk, Ireland, walking on his hands. He had come from Dublin and said he intended to proceed to Belfast on his digit-and-finger. Like his hands were encased in sandals, and he had with him a goat homestead to a little four-wheeled cart, which contained a camping or camping outfit and cooking utensils. He seemed so much interested in Dundalk, that the Civic Guards had to be called out to regulate the traffic for more than two miles along the Newry Road.

The BABY

Why do so many, many babies of today escape all the little fretful spells and infantile ailments that used to worry mothers through the day, and keep them up half the night?

If you don't know the answer, you haven't discovered pure, harmless Castoria. It's sweet to the taste, and sweet in the little stomach. And its gentle influence seems felt all through the tiny system. Not even a distasteful dose of castor oil does so much good.

Fletcher's Castoria is purely vegetable, so you may give it freely, at first sign of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea. Or those many times when you just don't know what is the matter. For real sickness, call the doctor.

Always, at other times, a few drops of Fletcher's Castoria.

The doctor often tells you to do just that; and always says Fletcher's Castoria may be just as pure, just as free from dangerous drugs, but why experiment? Besides, the book on care and feeding of babies that comes with Fletcher's Castoria is worth its weight in gold.

ALL through its long, successful history, General Motors of Canada has had its eye to the horizon . . . listening not for what followed, but looking always toward the thing ahead.

And General Motors has seen many of its visions realized. . . .

It has seen a great industry grow up in Canada to supply the Canadian family with a means of transportation to meet its needs and resources, to answer the desire for style, dependability, luxury.

It has seen, in the Canadian Fisher Body plants, the perpetuation of Canadian ideals of craftsmanship. It has seen, in the General Motors Research laboratories, the development of countless advances and refinements on which much of modern motoring tomorrow depends.

It has seen, on the General Motors Proving Grounds, the proof of principles which are now accepted factors in automobile design and construction.

It has seen the triumph of co-operative purchasing and manufacturing methods with their resultant economies to be shared with the buyers of General Motors cars.

And the eyes of General Motors are still to the horizon . . . still seeking new ways to improve General Motors cars and to place the cars within reach of ever-widening circles of Canadian buyers.
